“I visited CCOF with the want to reach out and help”

Dear Ricky and Lay Hwa,

Thank you again for all the incredible time in Chiangmai. Oh dear, the pictures do show how sad i was to leave that day. In all honesty, I cried because I felt so overwhelmed by the love I have experienced throughout my short stays.

It is so strange because I visited CCOF with the want to reach out and help others. As it turns out, I feel as though CCOF has instead reached out to me, and touched me and changed me. I thank God for all the blessings and kindness I have received through you both and the staff and children. I believe I am not the first volunteer to tell you this!

Dear Father Ricky, Lay Hwa, Jerry, and the Care Corner Children!

How is everyone doing? The Lord has truly stamped Care Corner onto my heart forever as I am constantly thinking about you all even half way across the world in California! It has been about a year and a half (August 2012) since I had the joy of staying with your wonderful family. In that time, I graduated from college with a degree in Accounting and Economics and I recently began my first real job working as an accountant. Is everyone that was at Care Corner when I visited still staying there?

You all have been an inspiration to my life for which I am sincerely grateful. You opened my eyes to the heart of God and to true beauty in your devoted service and love for God's children. I pray that God would bless Care Corner with overflowing love, peace, joy, and good health. I am going to write about my experience and send over some pictures which I hope you can use for the website. I would love to skype or facetime sometime! Looking forward to hearing from you.

Love
Miki Sparks

Pim on her way to school

Dear All Friends & Supporters

Just to share a photo of Pim and Boy on the bike before setting out for school. Pim is doing very well now that her health is good; mentally and physically.

Thanks for sharing our burden for this precious girl.

Blessings
Ricky Tan
