Care Corner Orphanage

On The Road To Recovery

One of the nurses said, “Pim is such a strong and clever girl.” When she was brought back from the surgical room, she climbed up to her bed without any help from the nurses. We were there with some volunteers who brought her some gifts. Pim immediately went to work on one of her new presents, a coloring book.

We want to thank the Lord for the successful operation and for your prayers. She is still an inpatient under observation by the hospital. We are awaiting for further testing results before Pim is able to return to CCO. Please continue to pray for speedy recovery.
