Our First Born, Jacinth Tan

She was born in Singapore on 3 December 1991. She first came to Thailand on a short-term missions trip when she was 9 months old. Together with her family, she was relocated to live in Chiang Mai at the age of two. She finished her high school diploma in Chiang Mai, and she went on to Nanyang Technological University in Singapore and earned her Bachelor of Arts Degree.

“Offering Your First Fruit Unto The Lord”

So often in my preaching amongst Christians, I challenged them to give their very best unto the Lord. The norm is, “if you have a daughter who is a doctor, hopefully one day she may have a clinic of her own; if you have a son who is a lawyer, hopefully one day he may have his own law firm; and if you have a child that is not so bright in his or her studies, hopefully there’s a vacancy in the church for him or her to serve.” We sometimes give the least for the Lord. It’s only natural for us to see what we could get; what benefits us most, but we forgot that the essence of loving is giving. I’m so proud that my “first born” is given to the Lord for His ministry at Care Corner Orphanage. It’s a great blessing for Jacinth to work with us!

They Left Us For A Better Place!

On your left is Necky, and Chup is on your right. This is what Necky said on his profile when he was with us:

“Hello, my name is Egdamai, but you can call me, Necky. When I was a month old, my father passed away. My mother passed away when I was nine. I lived with my grandfather till he was eighty years old. He was unable to provide me with appropriate medical attention needed for my sickness (HIV+). I was brought to CCO in May 2011. I hope to serve others like me in the future.”

At 18 years old, Necky succumbed to HIV related diseases on 16 September 2014. He is now in a better place!

Chup was born infected with HIV+. His parents died of HIV related diseases when he was five years old. A very soft-spoken boy who was very inquisitive to learn new things, but he was ostracized by his neighbors. He was sent by the Public Welfare Department of Thailand to CCO in May 2001. Like most young boys, Chup loves the outdoor life in CCO. He liked hanging out with his buddies. He enjoyed catching fish along the small irrigational canal surrounding CCO. He managed to live with us for 13 years before he went home to be with the Lord. We all at CCO missed both Necky and Chup greatly.

At 18 years old, Chup succumbed to HIV related diseases on 26 October 2014.

Report from the Thai hospital showed that children who were born infected with HIV at birth have not lived more than 25 years old in this region.
